37 DEAD AT NEW ALBANY, INDIANA

And 100 Others Injured, Many Of Whom Will Die.

PROPERTY LOSS $1,500,000

As Result Of a Terrific Storm That Wrecked the Hoosier City Friday Night.

A cyclone that bore down upon New Albany and Floyd county, Ind., with unheralded and awful fury shortly after 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, left death and devastation in its wake.

Early Saturday morning it was estimated that thirty-five persons were dead, more than a hundred others injured—probably more than a score fatally—and a property loss of more than $1,500,000 had been estimated.

Low out of the northwest the cyclone came, passed through the little valley that separates the Indiana knobs at the lower end of town, and with ominous roaring and mummeling swept with appalling ferocity into the city, leveling homes for two miles along the Charlestown and Grant Line Roads and for half a mile along Vincennes street.

The cyclone area is approximately half a mile wide and two and one-half miles long. The storm traveled northwest to southeast, leaving the city a short distance below Jeffersonville and spending itself in the river valley.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER DEAD

Through Poison Administered By Parent, Police Believe.

Chicago, March 24.—Poison snuffed out the lives of a mother and a daughter early today, and the result of a searching inquiry by the police and the coroner's office as to the means and method of its administration.

The dead: Mrs. Katherine Keyes, a widow, and Miss Genevieve Keyes, 22 years old, both of 1865 South Sawyer avenue.

Miss Keyes was engaged to be married to G. R. Zalette, 3039 Washington boulevard. Mrs. Varnum A. Bowers, of Mt. Clemens, Mich., is sister of Mrs. Keyes.

From Miss Keyes's story, told at St. Anthony's hospital before she died, the police believe that the mother poisoned both the girl and herself because of despondency at the prospect of the breaking up of the home of Dr. E. H. Flinn, whose housekeeper Mrs. Keyes has been for 14 years.

CONFIDENT OF VICTORY

Majority Leader Kitchen Says Democrats Will Organize the House.

Washington, March 24.—After a conference today with Speaker Clark, Majority Leader Kitchen said he was confident the Democrats would organize the House of Representatives. He said he believed Congress in special session should pass only the necessary measures to enable the President to handle the war situation and appropriation bills. Mr. Kitchen said, lacking official information about the suggested billion-dollar credit for the Entente Allies, he would not discuss it, but indicated he was not pledged to such a program.

PRACTICAL QUESTIONS.

Frankfort, Ky., March 24.—Teachers' examination questions this year will deal with practical as well as academic questions, designed to disclose the professional proficiency of the applicants, State Supt. V. O. Gilbert said today after a conference with Miss Nannio Catlett, of Princeton, and A. J. Jolly, of Meador, State examiners. They went thoroughly into the discussion of the subjects and the makeup of questions which will be asked.

TRIBUTE TO AMERICANS.

Paris, March 25.—The Journal des Debats, in a long and friendly discussion of America's position, says:

"Once the Americans begin fighting, they will go into the conflict body and soul and with the energy and tenacity that characterizes them. They will want to succeed and will joyously consent to the highest sacrifices."

"The idealists will be interested passionately in the great enterprise of the liberation of the world. Others will give to the task the keenness they put into the management of their enormous businesses."

QUAINT CHARACTER LIVED IN BIG WINDOWLESS ROOM

Paducah, Ky., March 25.—Finus Rogers, who died Saturday at his home in Trigg county, was a quaint character. He would not permit a stove in his home, always cooking on the open fireplace. For years he lived in a room, twenty-eight feet square and without a window. When 92 years old he rode a mule to Hopkinsville, a distance of eighteen miles, to pay taxes, making the trip in half a day. A large sum of money was saved by him, and it kept in a large iron safe near his bed. The deceased is survived by ten children.

There will be a display of the season's latest and smartest styles in Millinery at Harrell Bros. store, in Rockport, Ky., from March 29 to April 3. You are invited to inspect this line. CARRIE STEVENS.

CAMPAIGN ON FOR NAVAL RECRUITS

"President Needs You" Slogan On Posters to Be Scattered Throughout New York.

New York, March 25.—Posters of a patriotic nature calling on young men to join the navy will be spread over New York from one end to the other, Lieut. Com. Grady, of the Eastern recruiting divisions, which includes sixteen States, announced tonight.

"The President needs you!" and similar slogans will supplant the familiar "Join the Navy and Save Money" argument. The appeal for recruits will be made solely on patriotic grounds.

Lieut. Com. Grady made public the text of a telegram received from the Navy Department urging that every effort be made to increase the number of enlistments.

"The country urgently needs these men now for the first line of defense," the telegram said.

Graduates of the New York Naval School ships which received their training on the old St. Mary's or the Newport which now is in commission and who are not actively engaged in maritime life are being enrolled in a new division of the naval militia, it was learned tonight. Cadets in the nautical school probably will be recalled from leave soon.

A LEFT-HANDED WITNESS.

A colored witness in Circuit Court held up his left hand while taking the oath before special Judge Reed. Judge Reed was not noticing closely and after the witness sat down, some one whispered to Judge Bush, the regular judge, who sat in the bar, calling attention to the informality. "Oh, let it go, replied the judge, I sometimes swear the left handed ones that way and they testify about as well as the others." [Hopkinsville Kentuckian.]

STREET LIGHTS FOR HARTFORD?

It is possible that by the middle of next month Hartford will again have street lights, as the city is about out of debt to the light company on the old contract, and it is understood that the Council will appoint a committee to meet with the officials of Ky. Light & Power Co. to make a new contract for lighting the streets. If there is anything that Hartford needs worse than street lights we do not know what it is—for the benefit of those who live here as well as the impression it makes on the stranger who enters our gates.

It is just as well to remember that Dame Fortune will meet you half way, but she won't run after you.

BOTTLES, BOOZE AND BOOTLEGGERS

Boeing and Browning Bestir County Officials, Suspects and Hartford Generally.

HUNG JURIES SEEM PREVALENT

In their efforts to suppress the illicit sale of intoxicating liquors the county officials, Commonwealth's Attorney and the good citizens of Hartford have since March 16th had the services of Mr. P. J. Boeing, General Superintendent of the American Detective Service Co., Chicago.

As a result of his work Joe Tate, a local restaurateur, is in custody charged with selling intoxicating liquors in local option territory, three cases, selling to a minor one case, and for having in his possession liquors for sale, one case.

Mose Hines, colored, is in jail charged with procuring liquor for another.

Tate was released on bonds signed by J. H. Kuykendall, R. E. Baldwin, B. W. Rial and T. Wade Stratton.

On yesterday Tate was tried on the charge of selling five bottles of beer to Parker Browning, a boy 19 years of age. He and detective Boeing were the principal witnesses. A large number of empty bottles and several that had not been opened were produced as evidence. Tate admitted the sales but claimed the drink sold was not beer and would not intoxicate. It is put up in dark bottles with no labels of any kind on them.

This particular drink, according to Mr. Boeing's evidence, was usually dispensed in the kitchen or rear room of Tate's restaurant. After considering the case for about two hours the jury reported that they could not agree.

Writ Of Prohibition.

In the other cases Tate's attorneys Heavrin & Martin, have taken the position that the County Judge has no jurisdiction, and on Monday evening filed suit in Circuit Court against Judge Wilson, seeking a writ of prohibition, asking that he be restrained from taking further steps in said prosecutions.

By statute Quarterly Courts, over which the County Judges preside, have jurisdiction "concurrent with Circuit Courts in all penal cases the punishment of which is limited to a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars or imprisonment not exceeding fifty days or both."

By a act of 1916 the local option law was amended so that upon the first conviction under said law the court shall require the defendant to execute bond in the sum of two hundred dollars to be of good behavior for the period of twelve months." The contention is that this amendment adds a penalty and hence takes such cases from the jurisdiction of the Quarterly Courts.

The motion for writ is to be heard before Judge Slack at Owensboro on April 4th.

Whatever happens in these cases it may be said that County Judge Wilson, County Attorney Kirk and Sheriff Keown are doing their duties earnestly endeavoring to enforce the law, and in this the County Attorney is ably assisted by Commonwealth's Attorney Claude Smith.

Two brothers, Ab and Enos Lawrence, of color, were arrested and placed in jail last week charged with having in their possession whiskey for sale. Enos later was released on bond signed by his brother Basil and W. P. Midkiff.

It appears that the two negroes and their brother Carl received from the express offices at Hartford, McHenry and Beaver Dam forty-six quarts of whiskey from January 11th to March 21 inclusive. Another package containing eight quarts is held by the agent at Beaver Dam, same being consigned to A. B. (Ab) Lawrence. The county officials having received information of the unusual amount of wet goods being shipped to Lawrence, questioned the "personal use" proposition and Mr. J. E. Williams, the agent, refused to let the negro have the package.

Ab was placed on trial Monday in Judge Wilson's court before a jury. He admits receiving the various packages, containing from 6 to 8 quarts each, but contended the liquor was bought for personal use and carried to his home north of Hartford. Said some members of the family had the "grip" and the "licker" went mighty quick.

When asked to his occupation he said he had not been doing anything for some time.

The undelivered package was brought into court as evidence and shows it was shipped from A. B. Menser, at Owensboro, Ky.

The trial resulted in a hung jury—five for conviction and one for acquittal.

Enos was also tried and two of the jury accepted the "personal use" theory while four were for conviction.

The county officials are earnestly endeavoring to suppress the illicit sale of liquors and they should have the hearty co-operation of all law abiding citizens.

PRINTER WEDS

Charles King, Recently Returned From Border, Wins Heart of Miss Hunter.

Monday night, at the home of the bride, near Taylor Mines, Mr. Charles King was married to Miss Martha Hunter.

Mr. King, who is a son of John T. King, of Hartford, recently returned from the border with Company H, and is now employed in the mechanical department of The Hartford Republican.

His bride is a popular young lady of the Taylor Mines section, and the young couple have the best wishes of a host of friends for a long and happy married life.

A.V. THOMSON MAY BUILD HOTEL.

A. V. Thomson, president of the Kentucky Clothing Co., and formerly of Ohio county, has purchased the Seventh Avenue Hotel property near Main street, in Louisville, with a view of improving same right away. The old 7th Ave. Hotel was burned about a year ago, three lives being lost in the fire.

Mr. Thomson has not given out anything definite as to his plans but it is understood he will likely erect a new and modern hotel.

"Anthony" Thomson, as he is familiarly called here, is now one of Louisville's most progressive citizens.

C. A. AULL,

Of Fordsville, Brought Here From Owensboro, Charged With Abandoning Family.

Patrolman J. C. Harl, of Owensboro, lodged in jail here Saturday afternoon, C. A. Aull, of Fordsville, who is charged with deserting his wife and three children. Aull was arrested in Owensboro Friday on complaint of his wife and was held in the Daviess county jail pending the arrival of the necessary papers from the officers of this county ordering his transfer to the jail here.

A FREAK EGG.

Stealing away and making her nest in the meat house, a hen on the farm of Mr. Henry Pirtle, on Route 1, laid an egg that was out of the ordinary. Mr. Pirtle says the egg was of unusual size—almost double that of the ordinary hen egg—and when broken contained, beside a yolk and white, another egg, fully developed with a perfect shell but, of course, rather small. Someone in the office while Mr. Pirtle was telling the egg story said if it was as he said it was it must be "exactly" so. To which Mr. Pirtle replied in the affirmative.

MARRIED IN LOUISVILLE.

Mr. A. T. Beard, Sheriff of Breckenridge county, and a resident of Hardinsburg, was married to Miss Sallie Moorman, of Glendean, in Breckenridge county. The wedding was solemnized in the parlors of the Seelbach hotel, in Louisville, Rev. J. E. Meng, of Hardinsburg, officiating. Mr. Beard is the smallest and one of the youngest Sheriffs in this State. He has been connected with the Sheriff's office for sixteen years, having served as deputy sheriff twelve years before his election to high Sheriff four years ago. Mr. Beard is now a candidate for County Court Clerk. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Moorman. Both have a host of friends in Breckenridge county. [Owensboro Messenger.]

BOATS IN CRASH, THREE MEN DROWNED

Launch Collides With Tug—Youth Hurlled in Air Escapes Death.

Henderson, Ky., March 25.—Three men were drowned and two others, all occupants of a gasoline launch, had narrow escapes from death in the Ohio river late Saturday night when their launch collided with the tugboat Enterprise, of Louisville, towing a fleet of empty barges.

The dead are: Robert W. Nicholas, 60; Ben Nasbitt, 55; Charles Smithard, 45, all prominent farmers. Louis Nicholas and Herman Smithard, sons of two of the dead men, saved themselves.

The accident occurred twelve miles below the city on the Kentucky side, across from West Franklin, Ind. The men were returning home from this city.

The collision crushed the launch like an egg shell and the occupants were drawn under the barges, except Herman Smithard who was thrown into the air by the collision and fell on the edge of the front barge. He clung to a standard and was saved. Louis Nicholas, an expert swimmer, saved himself after he had been sucked under the tow by holding his breath and swimming under water a distance of thirty yards. When he arose to the surface he was so exhausted he came near drowning, but managed to swim to the steamer.

Nicholas and Smithard gave the alarm and the boat was stopped and the crew put out in the boats to hunt the others, but could find no trace of the missing men.

Searching parties headed by Geo. Rangan went to the scene this morning and worked all day, but were unsuccessful. The victims were married and had families. Nicholas leaving eight children. The steamer brought Nicholas and Smithard here, arriving at 3 o'clock this morning.

LOST BOY.

Wm. Carey Whittaker McDaniel of Benton, Ky., Route No. 1, wants to find his mother, who was Lizzie Whittaker, and is reported to be living in Ohio county.

Mr. McDaniel was placed in the Louisville Baptist Orphans' Home when a small boy and in 1911 was adopted by Mr. R. L. McDaniel, of Benton. If anyone sees this notice that knows anything about Mr. McDaniel's mother and who she married please notify him at the above address, or inform her that her son is very anxious to see her.

MAN FOUND WITH SKULL CRUSHED

James Odell, Ohio County Farmer, Is Lying At Point of Death.

FIGHT IN HANCOCK COUNTY

Had Been Fox Hunting and Returned to Walter Johnson's Home For Repast.

James Odell, an Ohio county farmer, thirty-five years of age, is lying at his home at the point of death as the result of wounds charged to have been inflicted upon him while he was a guest at the home of Walter Johnson, a neighbor, who resides in the back part of Hancock county.

Odell was found lying in the yard of the Johnson home. His skull was crushed and showed evidences of being beaten severely about the face and head. A knife wound was also found in the neck of the unfortunate man. The victim of the assault was unconscious when discovered and has not regained consciousness. His condition is considered as extremely critical.

Odell and Johnson, it seems, had been fox hunting during the day. They returned to Johnson's home for breakfast. The only other person having knowledge of the affair was Johnson's wife, who was in the kitchen preparing the meal. She stated that she heard a disturbance in the dining room and upon investigating found the two men fighting. Mrs. Johnson attempted to call for help and fainted from shock and fright.

No warrants have been taken out in the matter and friends and neighbors of the two men are expecting unusual developments in the case. [Owensboro Messenger.]

The victim, James Odell, is well known in the northern part of Ohio county. He is a brother to Prof. John W. Odell, a teacher in the Fordsville graded school. Their father, H. J. Odell is a well-to-do farmer, near Fordsville.

The injured man is at the home of his father and is improving. So far as we can learn he has made no statement concerning the trouble.

LEG BROKEN.

Mr. Willie Duke, of Cromwell, had his leg broken in two places when a mule he was leading ran away and dragged him about forty yards.

In attempting to open a gate Mr. Duke's leg was in some manner caught in the bridle rein of the mule he was leading, frightening the animal and causing it to run away with the above result.

Drs. Allen and Kittinger were summoned and set the injured member, and Mr. Duke is doing as well as could be expected.

Mr. Duke's mother, Mrs. M. E. Duke, is convalescent of old folks' pneumonia. She is eighty-eight years old.

MRS. ADOLPH BAILEY.

Mrs. Adolph Bailey, seventy-one years of age, died Saturday at Narrows, Ky., of paralysis. The body arrived at Stanley Monday for burial in the Stanley cemetery. The deceased is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Rosa Clark, of Oneida, Ill., and Mrs. Henry Harney, of Stanley. Two sons, Ab Sapp and Lon Sapp, of Stanley. Mrs. Bailey is also survived by twenty-six grandchildren. Deceased had resided in Daviess county all of her life with the exception of the past five years she has spent at Narrows. [Owensboro Messenger.]

COST OF EUROPEAN WAR

Figures So High They Are Hard For the Average Mind To Grasp.

The cost of the war in Europe is so great that few persons are able to grasp the significance of the figures. It has been estimated that the amount which has actually been expended for war purposes by the various Governments had reached about $71,740,000,000 on February 1, last.

This amount is more than eight times the value of all the real estate, buildings, &c., in the city of New York, from the farms in the outlying sections of Queens and The Bronx to the precious ground in the neighborhood of Broad and Wall streets. The assessed value of real and personal property in the city is $8,460,815,992. So Europe might have bought eight cities larger than New York with money she has already spent in the war.

If the cost of the war were distributed equally among all the inhabitants of the globe, from the Eskimo in his smelly igloo, who has never heard of the war, to the African hushman, who is equally ignorant, every man, woman and child would have to pay $44. The population of the world is estimated at 1,623,000,000.

Here is another comparison: Suppose a philanthropist or a calliph, as O. Henry would have put it, living in the year Caesar was assassinated, 44 B. C., had in his coffers the amount spent in the European war and decided to give it away to poor people a silver dollar at a time. If the poor people kept coming at the rate of one a second and the calliph never took a second off to get a bite to eat or snatch a sat nap he would still be dealing out a dollar a second day and night in the present year and would be doomed to do so for 315 years more. As the silver dollars he would handle during the whole time would weigh about 2,100,000 tons, he would be rather tired at the end of his task.—[New York Sun.

MATRIMONIAL ICE BREAKS

And Professional Skater Is Awarded $100,000 Heart Balm.

Chicago, Ill.—The jury had bad news for Thomas M. Gregory, of Pittsburg, when it sauntered back into Judge Torrlson's courtroom.

"We find the defendant guilty," the foreman said, "and assess damages of $100,000."

The 100,000 pieces of coin are to beguile the heart of Herbert Gebauer. The Gebauers are professional ice skaters. On December 27, after the matrimonial ice had broken and Mrs. Gebauer had lost a suit for nonsupport, Gebauer filed his suit against Gregory for alienation of his wife's affections.

Gregory is reputed a millionaire, with large manufacturing interests in Pittsburg and homes there and in Brooklyn. Gregory did not contest the suit and was not represented in Court when the jury returned its verdict.

BEES BUZZ AND SING AS CHURCHGOERS SING

Annoyed for the last two years by the great number of honey bees that buzzed about the church during services, occasionally stinging members of the congregation of the Fernbank Episcopal Church, the congregation, headed by William Kite, decided to make an investigation.

Officer Kruger, of the Ninth District Substation, and a Delhi tinner were called in to assist. It was found that an immense swarm of bees had taken possession of a small loft between the ceiling and roof of the church.

A hole was cut in the roof and Officer Kruger succeeded in coaxing the bees into a box.

More than 200 pounds of honey had been stored in the loft by the bees.—[Cincinnati Enquirer.

MRS. JAMES BALL BURNED TO DEATH

Mrs. James Ball, age 70 years, was burned to death Monday afternoon near Wolf creek. Her residence caught fire and it being some distance from the town, by the time the fire was discovered, and assistance arrived it was burned to the ground. Mrs. Ball lived alone and there was no one with her at the time of the fire. One arm, a shoulder, skull and teeth were all of her remains that were found in the destroyed building. The origin of the fire is unknown.—[Meade County Messenger.

Wasteful Americans.

"Of all the lands that I have visited," says Sir Rabindranath Tagore, the poet and philosopher of India, "the United States is the only one where a person eats the inside of a slice of bread and throws away the crust."

Saved Girl's Life

"I want to tell you what wonderful benefit I have received from the use of Thedford's Black-Draught," writes Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky.

"It certainly has no equal for la grippe, bad colds, liver and stomach troubles. I firmly believe Black-Draught saved my little girl's life. When she had the measles, they went in on her, but one good 'dose of Thedford's Black-Draught made them break out, and she has had no more trouble. I shall never be without in my home." For constipation, indigestion, headache, dizziness, malaria, chills and fever, biliousness, and all similar ailments, Thedford's Black-Draught has proved itself a safe, reliable, gentle and valuable remedy.

If you suffer from any of these complaints, try Black-Draught. It is a medicine of known merit. Seventy-five years of splendid success proves its value. Good for young and old. For sale everywhere. Price 25 cents.

TWO LOVERS

(Original by W. J. Chesnut.)

The moon was shining bright that night,
And everything was of a glorious hue
The true lovers sat beneath the tree
And told of their wondrous love true
Such as lovers always like
Beneath the beautiful starlit night.

They were thinking of the past gone days
With hearts that were troubled bad
For things that had been promising to them
But turned to be so sad;
But this they talked, but not to please
Beneath the moonlit shady trees.

The crickets chirped and the katy-dids sang
Around those lovers brave and bold
But as you know their busy tongues
Would not let them hear what the crickets told
All in that lonely firm little light
Of that beautiful moonshiny night.

The moon was rising high in the sky
But the lovers did not care or sigh,
For they were talking of the pleasant days
That were coming soon in those beautiful shades
As the stars were twinkling far over their heads
They seem not to care what they have said.

Just as the night was passing by
The true lovers talked in tones so low
They knew that there was no one high
But still their voices shattered so
As they sat beneath the spreading tree
They thought no one loved like you and me.

But as he left his thoughts were great
As he thought of his true lover under the tree
But still he knew it was very late
And that he could not wait and see
If the words said under that tree
Would be his very fate.

And so we see that very night
Under that beautiful spreading tree
That the moon was shining so very bright
And the stars were full of love and glee
That the lovers made love so very true
That they were happy all life through.

Nicholas Refuses to Be Traitor to Russia When Plotting Generals Would Step Aside

Petrograd, (via London).—The history of the last hour of Emperor Nicholas as ruler of Russia is related by a correspondent of the Outro Rossi, of Moscow, as follows:

Two trains arrived at the station at Vishera (on the Moscow-Petrograd railroad, 125 miles southeast of Petrograd), on the night of March 14. One train carried the Emperor's suite, the second the Emperor, General Baron Fredericks, Minister of the Imperial House; Rear Admiral Niloff, General Zabel and others. Nicholas, called from headquarters by the Empress, was on his way to the Tsarskoe-Selo.

None of the telegrams about the revolution sent by President Rodzhenko, of the Duma, had reached the Emperor. Every effort was made to keep him in ignorance of these affairs. General Zabel protested, declaring that if the others refused to inform the Emperor he would do so. Nicholas, who had been sleeping, was awakened at 2 o'clock in the morning. He went to the dining car and demanded that Admiral Niloff tell him what had happened in Petrograd. He was told that a crowd of students, hoodlums and young soldiers had terrorized the Duma, but that a few detachments of troops would be able to put them down.

Just then Commander Voyekoff, of the Imperial train entered with a telegram, stating that 700 of the St. George cavalry were on the way to Tsarskoe-Selo to present a cross to the Emperor, and had arrived at the nearby station of Dno, headed by General Ivanoff.

"Your Majesty," said Voyekoff, "it is enough that you appear at the Tsarskoe-Selo in the midst of these heroes and, with the Tsarskoe-Selo garrison, go to the Duma. All the troops will remember their oath. It will be easy to overcome these young soldiers."

"It is a lie, Your Majesty," shouted General Zabel. "You are deceived. Read these telegrams. Here is the order. To Imperial train, entered with a telegram, send the train to Tsarskoe-Selo, but to Petrograd."

The Emperor arose and exclaimed: "What does this mean? Is it revolution? Is Grekoff (who signed the order to divert the train) commander in Petrograd?"

Then General Zabel spoke out, saying: "There are 60,000 troops, with officers, backing the temporary Government. Your Majesty has been declared dethroned. It is impossible to go further."

Nicholas, completely nonplused, exclaimed: "Why was I not told before? Why tell me now when all is finished?" After a moment he added, with a gesture of helplessness: "Let it be so. Thank God! I will abdicate if that is what the people want. I will go to Livadia (the estate of the Russian Imperial family on the south coast of the Crimea), to my gardens. I am so fond of flowers."

The train moved toward Bologole. At Dno a telegram was received stating that the Tsarskoe-Selo garrison had revolted and that the Empress had appealed to the Duma for protection. Nicholas pondered the situation, then said: "I shall go to Moscow, Mrozovski (commander of the Moscow garrison) used to say Moscow always would defend me."

At Bologole was received a telegram stating that the Moscow garrison had joined the revolution. The train returned to Dno, where it met the train bearing General Ivanoff. The General related everything which had taken place, adding: "There is only one thing to do now. It is to open the Dvina front to the Germans and let them quiet the canaille."

Nicholas rejected the suggestion, exclaiming angrily: "I shall never become a traitor to my country."

Then Nicholas broke down and wept. After a moment he said: "If only I knew my wife and children were safe I should go to Livadia quietly to finish my life and let Michael govern the country. He is liked by the people. I will sign my abdication and then go back to the army, say good bye to the soldiers and let them do as they like. I shall not stand in the way."

This last colloquy took place on the station platform. Nicholas, who was dressed in a soldier's coat, with a Colonel's shoulder straps, and a sheepskin hat, tilted back, frequently mopped his brow. He gazed about in an abstracted manner and then mounted the steps of his car. Thereupon the train moved off.

BRECKENRIDGE NOTES.
Cloverport News.

Amos Whitworth, living near Stephensport, on the Union Star road, says the wheat crop is coming out wonderfully well and that there will be a better crop than was expected.

The covered wooden bridge across Sinking creek, at Clifton Mills, went down last week, a total wreck. This bridge was built by Reuben Ricketts in 1874, it being the last bridge he ever built.

Effort is being made by one of the best farmers in the county, to secure a County Home Economics Agent through action of the Fiscal Court. Walter Moorman, of Glen Dean, some months ago offered a nice sum personally to aid in securing a County Agricultural Agent for Breckenridge. Such a movement as this will help to take our county out of the pauper class.

Vic Robertson made the following sales to farmers last week: Joe Garrett, one pair of mules for $315; Jim McCoy, Stephensport, one mule for $165; Mike Cook, Askins, one three-year-old mule for $210; Geo. Lydden, Irvington, one mule $185; John Pate, Cloverport, one mule for $150; to Hawkins Smith, one cheap mule, $30; C. L. Penherton, Elizabethtown, three mules for $480; Wm. Grouse, one horse for $125; Murray Beavin, one horse $125.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Cromwell Lodge No. 692 F. & A. M., Cromwell, Ky.

The all-devouring scythe of Time has cut the brittle thread of life and launched another one of our brethren into eternity.

On March the 4th, 1917, Uncle John Gentry finished his course here on earth, and from our conversation with him a short time previous, we have every reason to believe that he welcomed the grim tyrant Death as a kind messenger sent from the Supreme Grand Master to translate him from this imperfect lodge to that all-perfect and Celestial Lodge above where the Supreme Architect of the Universe presides. Uncle John had been a member of the Masonic Fraternity for many years, and was one of the charter members of this lodge. Therefore be it

Resolved, that in his death, this lodge has lost one of its oldest and most respected members; the community a citizen willing to sacrifice his life for his country; his family, a loving father and kind brother. Be it further

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this lodge, a copy sent to each of the county papers for publication, and a copy sent to the bereaved family.

TOMATOES, CORN AND POTATOES.

The high prices paid for the last crop of tobacco have a tendency to concentrate the attention of so many farmers to this particular product that there is a fear that the crops of cereals and vegetables will be further curtailed. We hope and really believe tobacco will bring good prices again this season. This, coupled with the fact that the crop means ready money in the fall and all in a lump, influences producers to stake more on this than on other farm products. Then the cost of seed is very slight and this in some instances seems to increase the number of small crops.

However, tobacco requires an unusual amount of labor and more or less attention throughout the entire year.

Fortunately our soil is adapted to the production of the principal grains and vegetables so necessary for man and beast. Among products which can be successfully raised and marketed are corn, tomatoes and potatoes.

That these will command as high if not higher prices another year there is scarcely a doubt. Comparing the time demanded, the labor necessary and the conservation of the soil in the production of these necessities with that of tobacco, it strikes as that now is a good time for the farmers to give them at least more consideration than heretofore. Many farmers in Ohio county are buying feed for their stock and potatoes and other vegetables for their families. One man in all seriousness remarked that he would not plant any potatoes this spring because the seed would cost too much. If most farmers take this same view where will seed potatoes come from next year and what will be the cost? Perhaps no other vegetable is so universally used as the Irish potato, and the chances are the scarcity and price of seed now will mean higher prices next winter.

Then take tomatoes. Seed only costs a trifle if anything. There is no reason why tomatoes should not be produced in large quantities and preserved right here in our county, not only for our own consumption but for shipping to the other markets. We have the soil and it has already been demonstrated that the local canning of this delicious vegetable formerly known as "love-apple" pays even when put up on a small scale and sold at much less than present prices.

By co-operative action on the part of farmers and enterprising business men arrangements can be made for extensive cultivation and preserving of this vegetable (or fruit).

A canning factory would not only furnish the market but would give employment to our boys and girls here at home.

As we have said before: "Get together."

SENATE SHOULD SAVE.

The Oliver bill creating an expensive tax commission has encountered strong opposition in the Senate, and apparently the Porter amendment providing that the Governor, Auditor, Secretary of State, Treasurer and Attorney General compose the Tax Commission is most strongly favored. This would be much more economical and satisfactory. It means not only a tremendous saving in salaries, but that the extraordinary powers given to a Board who get their commissions directly from and are responsible to the people. They will hereafter be elected with a full knowledge on the part of the voters that these particular duties are to be performed by the officials composing the Board.

Senator Stricklett voiced our sentiments when he said that he opposed the creation of any Tax Commission, but would support the amendment as a choice between two evils. We do not know what the line up will be, but feel safe in saying the people generally are with Senators Porter, Stricklett and others in opposing the creation of any more expensive commissions.

"SHEARS-SWABUCK CO."

Without doubt, there is too much money leaving Ohio county going to mail order houses in the larger cities. The local post-office is flooded with the catalogs of "Shears-Swabuck" and other mail order concerns.

To those who patronize these concerns, we want to ask, how much of the money they send away do they ever expect to see again?

These concerns pay no taxes in Ohio county, employ no Ohio county help, and it is only reasonable to suppose that not one cent of the money sent them will ever circulate again in our county.

Then, too, if you want merchandise of any kind and have not the cash on hand to pay for it, do you write your mail order house to send you so and so, and you will settle when your crop is sold? No, not on your life—you go to your home merchant and "stand him off." Then we ask is it fair to send away for articles when you have the cash, and then ask your home merchant for credit when short of money?

If you will compare prices in mail order catalogs with those of home merchants you will find that they sell the same articles for the same money (and in some instances, for less) as the mail order houses.

Be fair to yourself and to the home merchant—buy your merchandise at home—from those who will put your money in circulation where you can have hopes of getting hold of it again.

The people of Ohio county and of the Fourth Congressional District, together with other citizens of the United States, are taxed to pay one-half of all the expenses of Washington City and the District of Columbia. Ben Johnson's fight to abolish this half-and-half plan and his success in forcing the rich property owners to "cough up" millions wrongfully obtained from the Government of the United States, prompted the resolution by the interests at Washington to defeat him if possible; and the sending of orator, Andrews, into this district, passing as a Nebraskan, was only one of the unfair, deceitful and contemptible methods adopted to get our fearless Representative out of Congress.

Fortunately for the people of the district and the honest tax payers of the United States their pernicious efforts only confirmed the confidence of the voters in Ben Johnson as shown by the election returns last November.

The Gardner bill which passed the House and is now being considered by the Senate, is the first measure ever proposed to classify property for taxation in Kentucky. Until recently amended, our Constitution prohibited such legislation. We thought it unwise to remove that safeguard placed in the Constitution by such patriots as our own illustrious Statesman, the late Henry D. McHenry, Gen. Bennett H. Young, Hon. Thos. S. Pettit and Ex-Lieut. Gov. E. J. McDermott. Our position has not changed. By authorizing classification a dangerous field has been opened up. Death and taxes have always been coupled together as being two sure things. Death makes no discrimination, and neither should taxes.

Teachers and prospective teachers welcome the announcement that the examination questions this year will be more practical. We hope this means the elimination of all nonsensical catch questions that in no wise test the real knowledge or fitness of the applicant, and which belong in a compilation of puzzles or book of riddles rather than in lists of questions to be propounded to teachers.

The LaRue County Herald says that several of the citizens of that county have become imbued with oil fever. We understand quite a number Ohio county citizens were afflicted with the same malady a few years ago, but that their temperature has been cooled down considerably to the tune of several thousand dollars.

Editor Allison Barnett, of the Republican, has not as yet found out how dry "bone dry" is, we suggest that he take a run over to Kuttawa. There you can't so much as get a drink out of Cumberland river.

A news item in one of our exchanges says: "That old bachelor fooled all his friends and got married." We wonder if his friends are all that he fooled.

The guy that is always "rocking the boat" has nothing on us—Hartford a little while ago was busily engaged in "rocking her streets."

To those who would inquire as to "what's in a name," we would refer them to the Fife brothers—the most musical evangelists in the world.

Our idea of a "soft soap" is that of answering consensatory messages received by Stone, of Missouri, the past few weeks.

Nick was implicated; the situation became complicated, and as a result he abdicated.

As a general thing, the kind of man who stops in at half a dozen saloons on his way home hasn't got much of a home after he gets there.

SUITS BY WHOLESALE,
FOUR HUNDRED AND FIFTY

Corporations Alleged To Be Delinquent—Six in Ohio County Made Defendants.

The County Attorney of Franklin county has instituted suits on behalf of the State, against four hundred and fifty Kentucky corporations for failing to pay the license tax of 30 cents on the $1,000 of capital stock as required by law.

Among the lot are six Ohio county corporations as follows: Beaver Dam Creamery Co., Blue Grass Oil Co., Ligon-Sherrod Construction Co., Ohio County Fair Association, Hartford Stone & Construction Co., Jintown Coal Company.

The basis for these suits is the statute requiring corporations to report to the Auditor on or before the first day of February each year giving information from which the amount of taxes fixed by the Board consisting of Auditor, Secretary of State and Treasurer, and requiring amount of taxes are fixed by the Board consisting of Auditor, Secretary of State and Treasurer, and requiring payment in thirty days after notice of amount due.

The penalty for failing to report or pay as specified subjects the corporation to a fine of from $50 to $1,000. Also the right of such corporation to do business as such is suspended until all fines, costs, taxes and penalties are paid.

On all such taxes a penalty of 10 per cent. is added and the taxes bear interest at the rate of 10 per cent per annum until paid.

This is perhaps the largest batch of suits of this character ever filed at one time.

COURT OF APPEALS RECESSES.

The January term of the Court of Appeals adjourned last Friday after having disposed of a large number of cases. The spring session begins April 11 with a heavy docket. The Judges will doubtless spend most of the short vacation in their home districts.

Ohio county, which usually has a number of appeals pending, has but one case docketed for the next term and that is Finley Carter, &c., vs. W. S. Neel, &c. The appeal is from a judgment of the Circuit Court dismissing the petition of Carter and others for the construction of a ditch in the northern part of the county not far from Ralph.

The facts were heard by a jury and a verdict rendered to the effect that the ditch should not be constructed. Judgment was rendered accordingly and Carter and others are seeking to have this reversed.

AT BAPTIST CHURCH.

Rev. J. W. Beagle, of Georgetown, State Evangelist for this district, preached two forceful sermons at the Baptist church Sunday. At the morning service his text was: "He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches." Rev. III-6.

The evening discourse was an appeal for service from the text: "The Lord hath need of them"—Matt. xxi-3.

The Sunday School was well attended. Being missionary day the school was asked for a contribution of $50 and the voluntary offering amounted to $62.50, $12.50 more than called for.

COUNTY CITIZENS GET
FINGER IN OIL PIE

Several LaRue county citizens have become imbued with the oil fever, and have been leasing land nearby tracts which have been leased by the may experienced oil operators who have been thronging the county in the past few weeks. Should an oil strike be made, a rush equal to the 1849 California gold rushes would almost occur. Already there is enough excitement to confuse all who try to get to the bottom of the many tales and rumors.—[Hodgenville Herald.]

"EGGS—CITING" MARKET

1,500 Dozen Eggs Brought To Hartford Saturday.

Our local merchants and produce dealers had a field day in the egg line last Saturday, over fifteen hundred dozen being delivered here by the farmers. No special effort had been made to induce delivery and there was no pool gold. Good prices prevailed, the net amount realized being over $350.

Our old hens are doing their best to reduce the high cost of living.

M. C. SHROADER FOR JAILER.

The attention of our readers is called to the announcement this week of M. C. Shroader for Jailer, subject to the action of the Republican party. Mr. Shroader was reared on a farm in the eastern part of the county, near the line that separates the two strongly Republican precincts, Rosine and Sulphur Springs.

By the dint of hard licks he secured a fair common school education and is well qualified to fill the office he seeks. He stands high wherever known and is a hustling young Republican that merits recognition, and no doubt he will make a strong race. Should he be the nominee, whoever is nominated by the Democrats will have in "Mode" Shroader an opponent who will make a hard but honorable fight in the final election.

TEACHERS MUST WAIT.

The payment of last installment to the school teachers will be delayed says State Superintendent, V. O. Gilbert. The reason given is that in estimating the amount to pay teachers the railroad taxes in litigation were considered. When these cases are decided, if favorable to the State the distribution will be made to teachers, but if an adverse decision is rendered or the cases should be indefinitely delayed, no more money will be paid the teachers until the beginning of the new fiscal year, July the first.

A LOYAL REPUBLICAN FRIEND.

Mr. L. Berry Loney, of near McHenry, was among our recent callers. Mr. Loney is one of Ohio county's most substantial and highly respected citizens, and though a prominent Republican, he has been a continuous subscriber to The Herald since May 3, 1875, and says its weekly visits are always greeted with anxiety and pleasure.

MOTHER SUICIDES

WITH BABE IN ARMS

Lebanon, Ky., March 26.—With her 14-months-old baby girl securely tied to her wrist, Mrs. Tom Cross, wife of a farmer residing three miles from Raywick, plunged into Prathers creek some time this morning. A few hours later the lifeless bodies were recovered from the creek by the husband and 9-year-old son, who had instituted a search for them. Domestic unhappiness is said to have been responsible for the tragedy.

FARMING AND LIVE STOCK

EARLY HATCHING PAYS.

Poultry Raisers Should Breed So as to Produce Eggs in Winter.
(Prepared by United States department of agriculture.)

Early hatching is the secret of winter egg production, say specialists in the United States department of agriculture. The pullet that is hatched early matures early and is ready to lay eggs in the fall when the supply is scarcest and prices highest. Chickens that are expected to be revenue producers for their owners later in the year should be out of their shells by April 30 at the latest. If they are properly cared for thereafter they will begin to lay eggs at the very time eggs are most wanted.

To a great extent the poultrymen of the country have overlooked this simple fact. For one thing, birds hatched later in the spring or summer are not inclined to become broody until late in the following season, and thus an unprofitable circle is formed. Each year pullets mature too late to produce in the fall and winter, and they sit too late for their offspring to do any better. The poultryman who wishes to get really good returns from his flock must break this circle.

The growing use of incubators has made this comparatively easier. There is no reason why incubators should not be filled in March and early April and the hatching over before May 1. If no incubator is available it may be possible to secure broody hens in the neighborhood. That they will repay the trouble and expense necessary to obtain them is indicated by results at the government poultry farm in Maryland. There it is not unusual to get a daily average of one egg for every five hens throughout the fall and winter, and in some pens the average has been as high as one egg for three birds. If anything like this percentage could be obtained on farms the ordinary poultry farmer would derive real benefit from the high prices which eggs invariably bring for a period of several months.

Spray the Hens.

Some successful swine raisers practice the spraying of their houghs, both inside and outside, with creosote oil or other similar preservative liquid. These liquids not only preserve the wood, but also act as disinfectants; they help especially in the eradication of lice and mange. Creosote oil stains the wood black and sometimes makes it streaked, thus possibly making its use objectionable from the standpoint of appearance.—Iowa Housestead.

Early Sowing in Hotbed.

Seed can be sown in the hotbed before the snow is off the ground, and the plants will have from four to six weeks' start when warm weather comes in the spring. By this means the vegetable grower has that much start on the crop grown from seed in the open soil. This means early marketing, which every grower is seeking because of the increase in returns.

FARM STOCK.

The disposition of a brood sow goes a long way in making her a profitable dam.

Don't give the ewes corn. Corn makes them feverish and inflames the udders. Inflamed udders are a bad thing at lambing time.

The idle horses should not be fed so much grain as when at work, but they should have a small ration.

A ewe that is soon to wean should not be too fleshy.

Never close the stable at night until the mud and ice are all cleaned off the horses' legs.

Don't overfeed the brood sows and get them too fat. A fat sow never has a good litter of pigs.

Keep the brood sows active.

CHICKEN CHATTER.

It is poor economy to waste good feed on scrub stock. White middlings contain more nutrition than the brown kind. It is not all in what you feed—there is much in how you feed it. Red beets are excellent for poultry and can be fed either cooked or raw. A direct substitute for high priced whole wheat, and a good one, is barley. Do not try to feed a large flock at a small trough. Let there be plenty of room or the weaker or more timid fowls will be crowded out. It is a good plan to soak oats in water for an hour and then feed in troughs. This soaking not only softens the hulls, but makes the oats more appetizing.

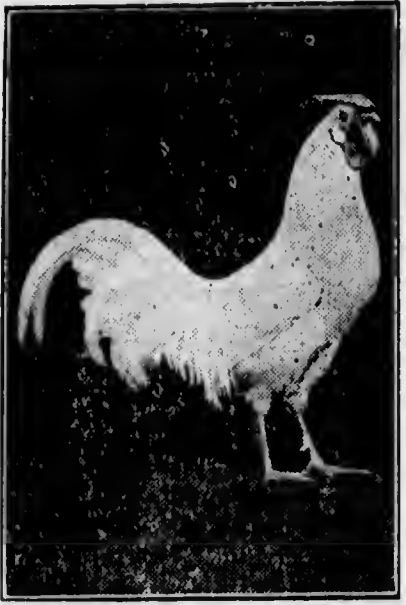

CARE OF YOUNG CHICKS.

Method of Handling and Feeding the Newly Hatched Birds.

When the chickens are hatched they are left in the incubator or under the hen for twenty-four to forty-eight hours to harden off, writes a correspondent of the American Agriculturist. They are not fed anything during this period. I then remove them to a clean, dry coop or brooder with a dry, gray pine and begin feeding. First scatter before them some chick grit, a pinch for each chicken. For the first feed I prefer dry breadcrumbs or oatmeal. In cattle eggs boiled and put through a meat cutter, shells and all, with bread crumbs make a good starter. I preferably do not use these until the second or third feeding day, at which time I generally begin feeding some commercial chick grain.

I used cracked corn and cracked wheat after the first week. There is too much waste to all commercial chicken grains I have ever seen. After the first few days I begin feeding a dry mash in hoppers or a pan. I have fastened to a wire hoop some inch mesh chicken wire, which I place on top of the dry mash so the fowls will not scratch it out of the pan and waste it. This mash, generally the Maine station ration, is always before them.

Cracked grains are fed in the litter, making the fowls work all I can. I feed the eggs tested out of the incubator, boiling only what I will use in a day or two at the most, as they will not keep sweet for over four days and sometimes not that long. I am careful the first two weeks not to overfeed, as by so doing bowel trouble is pretty sure to develop. While it is easily checked by giving scalded sweet milk or rice with cinnamon sprinkled over it, the best way is to prevent any form of diarrhoea setting in.

For chickens under hens the method is varied somewhat. The hen having a run will exercise the chickens. The principal difference in feeding is the elimination as a rule of the boiled eggs, except when I have an oversupply. I feed for a shorter period the higher priced foods. Whether kept under hens or in brooders the chickens must have plenty of fresh water. I would strongly advise the using of some stone-wash fountain, not only because it will keep the water cleaner, but it keeps the chicken dry. Early in the season a wet chicken is apt to get chilled and develop bowel trouble. These methods, accompanied by plenty of sunshine and fresh air, will not fail to start cockerels and pullets on the right road to make good winter layers of the all the winter egg basket kind.

Disinfect Incubators.

Disinfect the incubator after each hatch. This is not difficult to do, and the little extra work is well warranted by the feeling of security. Use a mild disinfectant, one that will evaporate quickly, and apply it with a brush or spray pump. Carbolic acid or one of the other coal tar products will do nicely for this purpose. Be sure to air the interior of the machines thoroughly before starting another hatch. The fumes of the disinfectant may injure the eggs if you do not.

Feed For Chicks.

For the first three days chicks may be fed a mixture of equal parts hard boiled eggs and stale bread or stale bread soaked in milk. When bread and milk are used care should be exercised to squeeze all milk out of the bread. From the third or fourth day until the chicks can eat wheat and cracked corn commercial chick feed is a good ration.—Kansas Farmer.

YOUR FISHING OUTFIT.

Have It in Perfect Shape When the Time Comes to Use It.

Varnishing a fishing rod is simple enough if one will only take the time, and it is easy to make a ten dollar rod look like the expensive, made to order article. The work should be taken in hand a couple of months before the season opens or before one's fishing vacation begins.

The books and the magazines will tell you to "flow" the varnish on. Forget it. Use as little varnish on the brush as possible and work it out until the brush slides off the rod. When the first coat is finished the rod will be covered with brush marks. Put the rod away for a week. When you take it out again those marks will have disappeared. Three coats are necessary, four or five or better if they have been well brushed out. Polish with a rag, powdered stone and crude oil. Use a little stone, lots of oil and all the rubbing you have patience to give. Remember, the success of the operation depends on allowing each coat of varnish to dry thoroughly.

While waiting for the varnish to dry the methodical man would naturally look over his stock of flies, discarding the damaged ones. Those that are only mussed can be doctored with steam. Put a cork with a small hole through it in the spout of a teakettle or hold the fly over the vent in your radiator. Make a bodkin by sticking a needle in a small piece of wood. With the needle point stroke up the wings and hackles. If the fly is badly stuck together it can be washed in tepid suds. Stick the flies in a strip of cork or soft wood until dry; then put them away in moth balls or tobacco.

Soak the old leaders and test them while wet. If you are a fly fisherman buy some lengths of gut of the same size as the end of the leader and tie a strand to each. Leaders lengthened in this way last much longer. Hooks occur most often near the end, and you will lose only the piece you tied on. This is particularly true of tapered leaders.

Clean and oil the reel, even if it cost only a dollar. Rub the lines with a very little crude oil and if badly worn apply some of the preparations for refinishing enameled dishes. If possible get an old trunk or a large box and keep everything together.

Then, brethren, when the time comes you can repair to your favorite stream with that peace and tranquillity of mind which have been our heritage since the days of Walton.—New York Sun.

BEWARE OF FOOD FADS.

Dieting a Serious Matter, Warns the Public Health Service.

"Pray, Mr. Abernethy, what is a cure for gout?" was the question of an indolent and luxurious citizen.

"Live upon seltence a day and earn it," was the cogent reply.

John Abernethy, second son of a Scotch-Irish family, born April 3, 1764, a physician of rare discernment, a surgeon of great skill, a lecturer and teacher of dramatic magnetism, never said a better thing in his life. It is particularly apt in this country, where the sin of overeating is far more common than the sin of overdrinking. Gluttony, always a fault, is all the more glaring in a land where a plentiful food supply permits it to be more general. The fallow, fat cheeks, the aching joints and irascible temper of the prosperous overfed are far too common. Abernethy said to one such, the Duke of York, by the way, "Cut off the supplies as the Duke of Wellington did in his campaigns and the enemy will leave the citadel."

Diet, however, is a really serious matter, and many people suffer as much from dietary eccentricities and food fads as from actual disease. The average individual can eat good, plain, wholesome food in moderation all his life without ever being aware that he has a digestive apparatus. Starvation to cure a fancied ailment or to reduce an expansive waist line has shortened many lives, just as indiscretion in the opposite direction. Certain diseases do require a particular diet, but this should be chosen by a physician of skill and not self prescribed. The self prescriber often has a fool for a patient.—United States Public Health Service Bulletin.

The fellow who needs help today may be the very fellow you'll wish you had helped in the future.

PERUNA in Your Home

A housewife must give the first aid in colds, coughs and other ailments. Her promptness in applying the remedy often saves a serious illness. Her experience with remedies has led her to know that PERUNA is always reliable, that she should have it on hand for the immediate treatment of coughs and colds, and that it is always to her

Mrs. George Parker, 419 Water St., Menasha, Wis., writes: "We have used Peruna in our family for a number of years, and have found it a perfectly reliable medicine. It soon rid the system of any traces of a cold, and prevents serious consequences. I began using it for catarrh, which I suffered with a good many years, but had not been very serious until recently. Since I have taken Peruna the dropping in my throat has discontinued, and my head and nose are not so stopped up in the morning. I am pleased with the results, and shall continue to use it until I am entirely rid of catarrh. I heartily recommend it as a household medicine. What it does for her it is ready to do for you."

Colds and Catarrh

The great weight of testimony that has accumulated in the 44 years that PERUNA has been on the market proves it, beyond question, to be the reliable family remedy, ever ready to take, preventing the serious effects of colds, coughs, grip and derangements of the digestive organs. This proof is published from time to time and many families have profited by it.

Remember you can obtain PERUNA in tablet form for your convenience. Carry it with you and be fortified against sudden attacks.

The Peruna Company, Columbus, Ohio

The Family Safeguard

The experience of one woman, given herewith, is typical of thousands of letters that reach the Peruna Company from grateful friends who have found their homes incomplete, and their family safety in danger without PERUNA.

One Experience Convinced Me of its Value

"One of our salesmen demonstrated the value of the Long Distance Telephone to us. He was at Huntsville, Ala., and upon his own responsibility put in Long Distance calls for fifteen merchants within a radius of several hundred miles.

"In less than one hour he had sold 2100 barrels of flour at a total cost to us of less than six dollars.

"Since then we have applied the Long Distance Bell Telephone to every feature of our business with most profitable results. The service is fine, the rates are reasonable and there is more satisfaction in one Long Distance Telephone talk than in half a dozen letters."

GO RIGHT AT IT.

Friends and Neighbors in Hartford
Will Show You a Way.

Get at the root of the trouble.

Rubbing an aching back may relieve it.

But won't cure it if the kidneys are weak.

You must reach the root of it—

the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills go right at it;

Reach the cause; attack the pain.

As recommended by many Hartford people.

Mrs. W. T. Woodward, Clay St.,

Hartford, says: "I have a good opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills for they helped me when I was troubled with my kidneys and back."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Woodward had. Foster-

GOOD GOVERNMENT.

The People Themselves Are to Blame
if They Do Not Have It.

The story is told that at the time Massachusetts was considering the ratification of the federal constitution Samuel Adams, the noble pioneer of American independence, was wavering in his support. The mechanics and workmen of Boston called a meeting at the old Green Dragon tavern and passed resolutions earnestly urging that the constitution be ratified and adopted. Those resolutions they put into the hands of a brass founder to be delivered to Mr. Adams.

"How many were present when these resolutions were adopted?" asked Adams.

"More, sir, than the Green Dragon would hold," said the sturdy mechanic. "And where were the rest?"

"In the street," replied the brass founder.

That casts a significant side light on that crucial period when we were engaged in the task of bringing strength out of feebleness and order out of chaos by establishing a national government. What could be more interesting than to see the mechanics of Boston solemnly considering and discussing the most remarkable document, as it has been called, that any body of men ever put forth? The same serious and constant consideration of matters of public concern by the same class of people is essential to every hour of the existence of the government.

It is time that the responsibility for bad men in office, for "invisible government," for venal and corrupt practices in public servants, be put upon those whose neglect of duty enables evil influences to control the election. The better element is always in the majority in every community and can always control the situation if it desires to do so. When things get insupportably bad and the people are thoroughly aroused, how quickly are desirable changes brought about! But when the people seem to have disposed of the particular condition that thus arouses them they fall back into a state of indifference and let the sinister influences have the field again.

Truly, eternal vigilance is the price of good government. We cannot sleep or enjoy it through any other means. Our blessed old republic was not framed for laggards or cowards, but for brave men and women, ever and always alive to the duties and obligations that rest upon them as citizens. Senator William E. Borah in Youth's Companion.

Ideas Are Dollars.
Some large business firms employ a man whose sole duty it is to read every trade journal, every technical paper or pamphlet and every magazine in order to get new ideas about the conduct of their business. Such information is issued each day before the heads of the various departments, who in turn pass it down the line to men under them and see that the new idea is tested. By this means each worker is kept in touch with what other men are doing in his particular line, and so his personal efficiency is increased. Almost everything can be done in a manner a little better than the present way, and modern business demands to know and practice the best. Ideas are dollars.

Making a Garden.

A garden should not be considered as a piece of wild nature nor plants regarded as architectural ornaments, for one must not do violence to the other. Above all must there be harmony. Otherwise the builder has labored in vain, for he has not made a picture that artists care to reproduce.

In garden building never imitate nature with intent to deceive, but where natural beauty already exists make use of it and add to it. Banks to be restrained often have large overtopping rocks. Make use of them even if the remainder of the wall is of distinctly different material. Merely assist nature.

"Fourth of July" in March.
Fireworks on Independence day are denied the children and grown folks of Alaska for the simple reason that the July nights are almost as light as the days, and it does not pay to attempt pyrotechnic displays if there is no darkness to show them off by contrast. Consequently it has become the custom in many Alaskan cities, including Fairbanks, to hold a Fourth of July celebration on March 4, when the nights are still very long. Then there is abundant opportunity for displaying fireworks of every variety.

Sloan's Liniment For Rheumatism.

The torture of rheumatism, the pains and aches that make life unbearable are relieved by Sloan's Liniment, a clean clear liquid that is easy to apply and more effective than mussy plasters or ointments because it penetrates quickly without rubbing. For the many pains and aches following exposure, strains, sprains and muscle soreness, Sloan's Liniment is promptly effective. Always have a bottle handy for gout, lumbago, toothache, backache, stiff neck and all external pains. At druggists, 25c.

Another reason why we don't like for folks to talk to us of our faults is because they go too far before they get a good start.

NEW YORK'S CURB BROKERS.

Their Grotesque Hats Show All the Colors of the Rainbow.

The stranger standing on the sidewalk of Broad street watching with amazed interest the gesticulatory antics of the brokers in the street as, with arms uplifted and rapidly wriggled fingers, they telegraph their transactions to watchers in the windows of the neighboring buildings is sure to find his attention fixed next on the riot of color in the brokers' hats.

Men whose garb is otherwise sober enough and who perhaps on wet or sloppy days are wearing rubber boots have on their heads hats or caps in all the colors of the rainbow, separately or in combination. Scattered about in the crowd that fills the street from curb to curb you see head coverings that are conspicuous bright spots of lively color, hats or caps of pink, of blue, of white, of red, of purple or orange, of green or it may be of black and white check.

On a winter day you may see a man wearing a white cotton or linen hat such as is worn in the country or by the seashore in summer, but this is jammed down on the top of a warmer felt hat. You see many knitted golf or skating caps in bright colors, and in these caps you find many color combinations, as a black skating cap with a yellow band, a gray cap with a red band.

And here you may see a man wearing a red felt hat with drooping brim and having a white disk on top of the crown or perhaps one wearing a generously proportioned gray cap of conventional style with visor, but having on its roof a yellow disk.

Why do these busy men wear these fancy hats? the stranger asks. He is told that some wear them because they like the lively colors—a vender moves calmly through all the turmoil with such hats for sale—and other men wear them, the stranger is told, so as to be easy of identification by the men to whom they signal and who signal down to them from the windows of the buildings on either side.—New York Sun.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK EDITION OF THE NEW YORK WORLD.

Practically a daily at the price of a weekly. No other newspaper in the world gives so much at so low a price.

The value and need of a newspaper in the household was never greater than at the present time. The great war in Europe is now half-way into its third year, and, whether peace be at hand or yet be far off, it and the events to follow it are sure to be of absorbing interest for many months to come.

These are world-shaking affairs, in which the United States, willing or unwilling, is compelled to take a part. No intelligent person can ignore such issues.

The Thrice-A-Week World's regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and The Hartford Herald together for one year $1.65.

WOMEN'S NERVES

Women, more than men, have excitable nerves, because tiring work and physical strain tax their more delicate nervous systems and bring premature age and chronic weakness—unless treated intelligently.

Drug-laden pills and alcoholic concoctions cannot build up a woman's strength, but the concentrated medicinal food properties in

The Merchants of Louisville invite you to attend their united semi-annual

Dress-Up Week Exhibition

to be held March 31 to April 7

DRESS-UP WEEK represents a concerted effort on the part of Louisville merchants to present, in a comprehensive review, the best that is to be found in seasonable merchandise. The exhibitions will not be restricted to any particular classes of goods, but will include wares of every description. Inaugurated in conjunction with the great National Dress-Up Movement, this will be the most important event of its kind to occur in this section of the country.

The object of Dress-Up Week is threefold. First, an authoritative introduction to the latest fashions and ideas; second, to afford the pleasure that accompanies an inspection of large and interesting displays; and finally, to tender an opportunity for the provision of current needs.

When you come to Louisville—and we sincerely hope that you will come—be sure to look for the cards bearing the R. M. A. monogram that appears at the head of this invitation. Such cards will be seen in the windows of stores officially participating in the Dress-Up Week exposition.

At these stores, the latchstring will hang out in true Kentucky fashion. Every courtesy, every convenience, every service at the command of Louisville's most progressive merchants, will be placed at your disposal. Make free use of our telephones and our stationery; arrange for meetings with your friends in our rest rooms; they are yours.

The following firms join in this invitation:

Bacon, J. & Sons.
Baldwin Piano Company.
Baumer, August R.
Baxton & Lazenby.
Bomar-Summers Hardware Co.

The RETAIL MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION

PERSONAL NOTICE!

All the goods we now have in hand and contracts for spring now arriving, are at very fair prices and not a great advance. The prices being asked by manufacturers for fall are but little short of highway robbery. We won't do it, and will not have a complete fall line. To the extent of the stock, we will sell you goods at fair prices, and in many cases no advance at all. For either spring, immediate use goods, or for fall, it will pay you to buy at our prices now and lay them away. The question is, would you rather pay $2.50 or $3.00 for a shoe now or $4.00 to $5.00 later; or $10.00 to 12.50 for a suit $15.00 to 20 later? The above are truthful statements. Do you want the benefit or do you still want some one to carry you on credit at the greatly advanced prices?

You Can Make Excellent Cake with Fewer Eggs

Just use an additional quantity of Royal Baking Powder, about a teaspoon, in place of each egg omitted.

This applies equally well to nearly all baked foods. Try the following recipe according to the new way:

CREAM LAYER CAKE

Old Way

1 cup sugar
2 cups milk
2 cups flour
2 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
3 eggs
1/2 cup shortening
1 teaspoon flavoring

New Way

1 cup sugar
1 cup milk
2 cups flour
4 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
1 egg
2 tablespoons shortening
1 teaspoon flavoring

Makes 1 Large 2-Layer Cake

DIRECTIONS—Cream the sugar and shortening together, then mix in the egg. After sifting the flour and Royal Baking Powder together two or three times, add it all to the mixture. Gradually add the milk and beat with spoon until you have a smooth pour batter. Add the flavoring. Pour into greased layer cake tins and bake in a moderately hot oven for twenty minutes. This cake is best baked in two layers. Put together with cream filling and spread with whitening.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

made from Cream of Tartar, derived from grapes.
